§ 1 Limitation of Liability for Content

The content of this website has been created with the greatest of care. However, the provider accepts no liability for the accuracy, completeness or topicality of the content provided. Usage of the website's content is undertaken at the user's own risk. Any views expressed by named authors represent the view of the author alone and do not necessarily represent the view of the provider. Usage of the provider's website does not in itself result in any contractual relationship between the user and the provider.

As a service provider, we are responsible for our own content on these pages under general law in accordance with Section 7 (1) of the German Teleservices Act (TMG). However, in accordance with Sections 8 to 10 of the German Teleservices Act (TMG), as service provider, we are not under any obligation to monitor any third party information which is either transmitted or stored or to investigate any circumstances which are indicative of unlawful activity. Obligations to remove or block access to information in accordance with the general law remain hereby unaffected. Any related liability shall, however, only be incurred from the moment at which a specific infringement is made known. In the event that such violations are brought to our attention, the content will be removed immediately.

§ 2 Liability for external links

This website contains links to external third-party websites. We have no influence over the content of these websites. We cannot therefore accept any liability for this external content. The respective provider or operator of the sites is always responsible for the content of linked sites. Linked sites were checked for possible legal violations when the links were created. No illegal content could be detected at the time the links were created. It is however unreasonable for constant checks on the content of the linked websites to be carried out unless concrete evidence of a violation has been provided. In the event that violations are brought to our attention, the links in question will be removed immediately.

§ 3 Copyright

The content published on this website is subject to German copyright and intellectual property law. Any utilisation not permitted by German copyright and intellectual property law requires the prior written consent of the provider or the relevant right holder. This shall apply in particular for storage, duplication, adaptation, distribution or reproduction of content in databases or other electronic media and systems, and any type of utilisation beyond that permitted by copyright law. Third party content and rights are specifically marked as such. The unauthorised duplication or reproduction of individual content or entire web pages is not permitted and is punishable. Downloads and copies of this site are only permitted for personal, non-commercial use.

The copyright for published material produced by the author himself is retained solely by the author of the pages. Any duplication, distribution, storage, forwarding, sending, reproduction or other dissemination of content without written consent is expressly forbidden. We request that you inform us if you do, however, become aware of any copyright infringements. Upon notification of infringements, the content in question will be removed immediately.

All persons named or represented on this site hereby refuse consent to the use and dissemination of their details for commercial purposes (see Section 28 of the German Data Protection Act).

§ 4 Special data sharing

All information made available to download, e.g. data sheets, may be used without restrictions and may also be downloaded. The distribution of the information for any public or commercial purpose is not permitted without written consent. The content that can be accessed, in particular information or data sheets, may contain or make reference to trademarks, patents, protected information, technologies, products, processes or other trademark rights of the company and/or others.

If special conditions for individual instances of use of this website deviate from the paragraphs above, this will be expressly indicated in the appropriate place. In such cases, the special conditions of use will apply to the individual case.
